WASHINGTON, May 8 .- House .- The morning hour. Mr. Kelley, of Pa., argued that so long as that law was ungued that so long as that law was un-repealed, every working man in the Government employment, who was While we believe this, yet we think Government employment, who was forced to work ten hours for a day's wages, was defrauded of his legal rights; but the condition of things since the passage of that law had changed greatly. Now capital could not find safe and profitable employment in productive industries, and labor was starving. The poraries in their zeal denounce as "cowards and traitors to their party" all condition of the world in that respect let over production be stopped.

After a short debate the bill for the enforcement of the eight hours law was of Congress from this State headed by the gallant Ransom (would you call him laid upon the table, 103 to 52. The House Committee on Education and Labor had under consideration the joint resolution introduced by Mr. Whitthorne, authorizing the appointment of a joint select committee to in-quire into the causes leading to the colored exodus from the South, but it reached no conclusion. The motion to reconsider the vote rejecting the eight hours bill w s laid on the table, 127 to 87, thus effectually killing the bill. The House then resumed consideration of the bill to amend the laws relating to coinage, and coin and bullion certificates, which was discussed at great length. The House adjourned without action on the bill.

SENATE.—The Senate resumed the consideration of the House bill prohibiting military interference at elections. Senator Morgan, of Ala., advocated its passage, arguing that the framers of the Constitution with a view to the preservation of public liberty, drew a broad distinction between the regular army and the malitia, and that the latter should be employed to enforce the laws. The House committee on foreign af fairs, appointed a sub-committee, consisting of Wilson, King and Robeson, to consider the practicability of entering into additional treaty regulations with Mexico.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8 .- The returns of the election as far as heard from are complete surprise. The city instead of giving 10,000 or thereabouts against the new constitution, as was generally expected, gives a majority of less than 2.000, with the returns nearly complete. The returns from the country are in-complete, but indicate that while Alameda, Sacramento, Santa Clara and most of the counties have gone against the new constitution, nearly all other agriculcutural counties have gone heavily for it. As far as heard from the city and State vote now stands 5,300 in favor of adoption, with a chance that the majority is being materially increased. A disturbance was feared in the city during the evening, but the feeling was soon quieted down, merely a few fights occuring. The workingmen are jubilant over what they consider their own

THE RUSSIAN NIHILISTS. How the Party Started, Has Flour Colonge Gazette. It is just about a year since the Russian Socialists first surprised their fel-low countrymen with a display of their plans of action. How long the dismal confederacy has been in existence—a confederacy whose members are abroad known as Nihilists and in Russia as Socialists, but who call themselves the revolutionary party—it is impossible to ascertain with exactness. To find the real commencement of the present revolution we should have to go back as far as the accession of the Emperor Nicholas. It was in 1825 that for the first time foud demand was made in Russia for a constitution, which it was means. This movement the energetic Czar quickly crushed. Under his iron rule there may have been occasional ferment, but nothing to speak of came to the surface. It was only under the milder sceptre of Alexander that the agitation first ventured to show itsel again. Since the year 1863, when serfdom was actually abolished, it increased from day to day, and for fifteen years it has been increasing almost impercej tibly, and without assuming a fixed and definite shape. But at length last year it came forth firm, audacious and in a terrible form. At that time there appeared in all the European cities of he empire publications of an insurrec tionary character, accusing the highest officials and dignitaries of dishonorable conduct, avarice and barbarous brutality. Their removal from the entorrage of the Emperor was demanded, failing which a sanguinary revenge was threatened. From the outset the Russian socialists declared that they did not in-tend any injury to the Czar. It was the Court camarilla they were aiming at—that wall which separates the ruler from his people, and through which they declared must be broken down, if not in a peaceable way then by force The persons whose dismissal from the ranks of the government service was demanded were mentioned by name. They were not few; there were about wo hundred names on the list. terneath these names were words to the following effect: "Since we are unable to obtain any redress in a lega way, and that because in Russia, no the Czar, but those about the Czar, re ally govern the country, we shall, un less attention is paid to wishes, enter upon- the illegal way, and we shall shoot, stab and murder until our de mands are satisfied and the camarilla is swept from the face of the earth." Ac cording to the programme of the Socialists, the 'Third division' was first to be done away with. The private chan-cellery of His Majesty, it was declared, was an institution utterly irreconcilaole with the spirit of the present agean institution which, standing above and outside all law, could not be reach ed by any legal way. The chief of the with murder or assassination if he cor tinued to torture prisoners into confes sion by subjecting them to the pangs o hunger, thirst and the knout. tain time, was granted him within which to mend his ways. The authoriies, upon receiving these intimations employed every exertion to get a clev to the audacious authors and distribu-tors of these publications, but all with earth. The army was deluged with them; the laborer found them in his capital itself. For some time the Storm Bell had been published in London and the Forwards in Geneva, when sudden ly, in St. Petersburg, there appeared the chief organ of the revolutionary party—a paper which, in foolhardiness, surpassed everything that had hitherto been known in the same line. It bears the name Semla i Svaboda (Land and Liberty). In this print we see unfolded a revolutionary fanaticism and terroism which recall the memory of the French Revolution. The Somla i Svaboda passess judgment on life or death; it warns, threatens and pardons; it announces beforehand those who have been condemned in the criminal courts and publishes earlier and more faithful to do. The hawkers or distributors of Semla i Scaboda must, it would seem. either do their work in invisible garments or the copies of the paper must fall from the skies. They are found everywhere except when the police want to drop on them. A ROUND OF PLEASURE FOR THE NORTH CAROLINA MERCHANTS. The Banquet Last Night--The Speech of the President Replied to by E. R. Stamps----Great Success. Special Dispatch to the News.

The excursionists have had a most delightful time on their trip to this beautiful city.

The day has been chiefly spent in visiting the points of interest in and around the city and in communicating with our business men. Last night they attended the porformance of Cinderilla, which was exquisitely rendered by native amateurs.

To-night we were entertained by the Commercial Club at their elegant rooms and were served to a most sumptuous supper with trimmings.

The address of welcome was delivered by the President of the Club in a very appropos style, and was a very happy initiation of the entertainment. The following is the

SPEECH OF MR. WATKINS. Gentlemen of North Carolina, Richmond and members of the Commercial

Club: On behalf of the merchants, it is my pleasure to-night, to welcome to our beautiful city our North Carolina friends and merchants. Go with me for a moment to your western hills and over the Blue Ridge mountains into those beautiful and fertile valleys of the Swannanoa and French Broad; that land which has been so beautifully discribed by one of your fair daughters in the "Land of the Sky" with her mountians upon mountains until climaxed by that everlasting mountain which stands over 6,700 feet above the level of the sea, and takes its name from one of your distinguished scholars and sons, Mount Mitchel, of North Carolina. New York Star. The retail merchants of this city are frequently annoyed and perplexed by the successful operations of the professional shoplifter. In fact, shoplifting has become such a common practice "spot" the professional thief. Yet, ber that has been stolen the present year of events that nothing can rob us of notwithstanding the great precaution our glorious and immortal past. And which is taken to prevent loss of goods, now, Mr. President, let me thank you several of the firms lose from $50 to in person for the warm hospitality you $350 each week. Lady shoppers have the incautious habit of laying their portmonnaies on the counter while examining goods. The "dipper," hav-ing noticed a corpulent purse on a counter, quickly seats herself on the next stool. She quietly shoves with one hand a piece of dress goods or some other articles over the coveted purse, and with the other slips the portmonnaie into her pocket. Having secured the prize, she abruptly leaves and goes to another establishment, where the same plan is successfully carried out. The "dipper" prefers to lind the pocket-book lying on the counter, but

IF BUSINESS IS DULL will not hesitate to extract it from the side pocket of the cloak or detach it from the chain by which it is suspended from the belt. "Dipping" is a very common practice, and could be entirely prevented if lady shoppers would listen o the often-repeated advice of salesmen to keep their portmonnaies in an inside pocket until their use was required for the payment of a purchase. Messrs. Lord & Taylor are, the rethat establishment, and if they succeed in entering they are politely informed that they must leave the store.

Mr. Donahue, a detective in the en-ploy of Arnold, Constable & Co., stated that shop-lifters and "dippers" avoided that establishment as they at "police headquarters. "Once in a while have faces make their appearance," said Mr. Donahue, "but a long study of the ac-tions of shop-lifters enables the average detective to at once recognize them."
"What are the different modes adopted by the shop-lifter to secure goods without detection?" asked the eporter.

THE STYLES. "There are a hundred different wave of shop-lifting," the detective answered and it would consume too much time to tell you about all of them." One of the most common methods of hiding goods is secured by the use of a capaciatchel or a shopping-bag, which is held pocket the goods under the shawl, or to place them in a capacious shopping-bag.

"Is there any truth in the statements published in a morning paper recently that respectable ladies were frequently falsely accused of stealing goods, ar-rested, and grossly insulted by parties connected with the several large drygoods establishments?" "Those statements were evidently made by persons who have been misin-formed. The facts are exactly the contrary. No respectable lady is arrested unless there is the most positive proof against her, and it is very rarely the ase that a mistake is made in arresting a person who is suspected of pilfering I have used the expression 'respectable lady' because there are in every city women who are wealthy and able to purchase all they desire, respectably con-nected, who cannot resist a desire to conceal and carry off some article which meets their fancy."

The statements in regard to false ar rests were corroborated by interviews with the proprietors and managers of the houses of A. T. Stewart & Co., Macy & Co., Erich & Co., Daniell's and Koughman's establishments. The kleptomaniac is not an uncommon visi-

They belong to the demi-monde, and are the wives or mistresses of professional thieves or burglars. The shopifters generally travel in pairs. The mate is usually a woman, but sometimes a man and not infrequently a boy, girl or baby. The 'baby dodge' was at one time the most successful trick, but it is rather old now. in the Quaker City. In the latter place one of the parties came to grief and served a term in the Pennsylvania penitentiary. These parties were until recently living in Hoboken, and were, with their burglar husbands, suspected at one time of connection with the stealing of Sewart's body."

Mr. William E. Moore, who has long been connected with the firm of E Rid-ley & Sons, stated to the reporter that annual loss from shoplifters to that es-tablishment would average $10,000 per annum, which would aggregate the sum of $300,000 since the business was estab-lished—in 1849. "During the past year," he said, "we have got rid of the that the larger firms have been com-pelled to place on their pay rolls a corps of detectives, whose sole duty it is to the amount of goods stolen has been small in comparison with former years. Mr. Barbier resides at No. 311W est 27th street, New York, and is a married man. The lady with him was Mrs. Annie Smith, aged 19, of Hamburg, N. J. The prisoners were locked up in the Second Precinct station-house in Newark. Mr. Barbier denies that there was any elopement intended. He says he was not aware that Annie was aboard until he got aboard himself. Mrs. Smith, it is said, declares that she will not return to her husband. She says he was forced into marriage with him two years ago by her parents. She is a prepossessing country girl, and, it is said, was captivated by the flirtations of Mr. Barbier.

The eloping wife said that she was unhappy with her husband, but claimed that she had no reason for leaving her home. The husband is a well todo industrious farmer. His friends claim that he has always treated his wife kindly, and that he is the injured wife kindly, and that he is the injured party. At a late hour last night the Newark police authorities received a message from the husband stating that he would reach that city early this morning and take charge of his wife, for whom he professes to have a de paragration.

WINNIPEO, Manitoba, May 8,-The Canada Pacific Railway strike still continues. A number of men came in from the scene of trouble last night; they report that the whole force of some 1,500 men is on a strike, but that no damage has yet been done to property, nor would be, unless by a few hotheads, the majority of the workmen being steady and industrious. They say that if paid off the strikers will leave the line, but they were unable to get their time from the foreman. A special dispatch to the Daily Times from Cross Lake gives a different version of the affair. It says the men are marching in procession with the union jack and the red flag of the Communists. The superintendent of the work. Mr. Charles Whitehead, met them and asked their wants. They demanded $2 per day for all hands, and board at $4 per week and no doctor's fees, the men being charged fifty cents per month each for medical attendance, and they threatened to prevent all work until their demands were complied with. Mr. Whitehead declined accepting the terms, but offered all of those wishing to leave a free ride to Winnipeg, where they would be paid off. The men, how-ever, declined this. The Times adds that so far all is quiet, as the strikers have not met with any resistance, but it is evident there are those amongst them who are only anxious to destrey

BURKE COUNTY.

The Report of the Committee on the W. N. C. R. R.

dence of the News. ICARD STATION, BURKE Co., May 5 .-Knowing that you are a friend of the common people, and that your excel-lent journal is doing good service in their interest, I venture to ask the tise of a small space in your columns for the purpose of calling attention to what is conceived to have been an abuse of a public trust by the legislative commit-tee appointed to investigate the management of the Western North Carolina Railroad. The report of this committee and portions of the testimony, constituting its so-called basis, were published in pamphlet form for distribution along the line of the road, and probably placed in the hands of the President "where they would be likely to dent "where they would be likely to do the most good," as they seem very scared among us outsiders. This is immaterial, however, for present pur-

Being public property, the report is a subject of just criticism, and a few of its leading features will be briefly noticed:

First. A part of the testimony "on which the report is in the major part predicated," was suppressed, and no reason assigned for its suppression.
Second. Negative statements of emness of known in charges of mismanagement against the President of the road, were received as evidence instead of compelling the production of the records and files of the company which were the best evidence in the case, and ought, if properly kept, as the report says they were, to have shown upon inspection whether or not a dead-head train was run to the Hickory conven-tion in May, 1878, or to the election at Old Fort, and the quantities of material furnished to the road by its President, and the prices charged therefor. The President's failure to produce these records indicates clearly that they afforded no evidence of receipts of fares from passengers on these alleged dead-head trains, nor any other evidence of his innocence of the charges.

Third. The testimony of one witness was to the effect that a train on which he was engineer and conductor, hauled wood and lumber for the President and other employees, which was not way-billed, and transported persons to Old Fort free of charge. An in the face of this testimony, the committee report that "not one of the witnesses he s not in the slightest degree substantiated the charges of mismanagement!"

Fourth. The evident partiality of the committee in protecting the accused, and jumping to conclusions without facts being presented as a basis, cannot escape the notice of the most careless escape the notice of the most careless reader of the report.

Judging from the tone of the report, in regard to those charges wherein the evidence was published, there might be room for very wide difference of opinion concerning the correctness of the conclusions of the committee, as to the other charges if the facts were fully disclosed. The duty of this committee was to find facts and report them fairly to the Legislature, so that the people, who are paying taxes to build the railroad and defray the expenses of the soroad and defray the expenses of the so-called investigation, might have them. But instead of this they are presented with a poorly executed job of white-washing. The natter is one concerning which the people have an unques-tionable right to inquire and be fully informed. They have rights which their servants, be ney legislators or railroad officials, must be compelled to report. In these times of traud and corruption in high places, constant vigilance is the only means of preventing slackness in the management of public trusts, and it cannot be too strictly exercised. The political atmostphere is foul. We must rentilate or be suffocated.

THE San Francisco reception is expected to be a surprise to Grant. It is intended that he shall find himself surrounded by all the political bummers in the country, with Babcock, Robeson and Belknap in the lead, before an intimation of what is going on reaches him. This scheme to astonish the old man is one of those aspirations that sometimes come to a man. Grant mapped it all out himself before he lef England, or let Badeau do it for him.

THE squatters in the Indian Territo ry are not all whites, it seems. Many Indians, particularly Cherokees, dissatisfied with the condition of affairs in the Cherokee nation have crossed the boundaries and squatted on these new and fertile lands, alongside of the white emigrants. The Territory from which Hayes warned white settlers in his late proclamation does not belong to the Indians, having been purchased from them in 1867 by the United States government. It contains at present only a few wandering Foxes and Sacs.

THERE are now only sixteen States with boards of health and quarantine laws. The State Board of Health of Georgia has just died of a lack of funds. It was inaugurated in 1875 and supplied at that time with a small amount of money. Since then it has not been voted a cent. An attempt was made to abolish it at the last session of the Legislature, but this was not done, out of deference to the petition of the State medical societies. Although refusing to abolish the board by a special act, the Legislature did practically the same thing by its refusal to make any appropriations for its benefit.

THE new army bill may not reach the veto mill before Saturday. In the meantime the probabilities of a veto are discussed. SINCE the commencement of the negro exodus from the South a number of conferences and conventions have been held, with a view to ascertaining what the trouble really is, and to see how the interests of all classes can best be subserved. So far nothing definite has been developed. The movement continues, and half a score of theories as to its cause find earnest advocates North and South. A partisan turn has almost invariably been given to any formal consideration of the matter heretofore, but a calm, dispassionate discussion by parties who knew whereof they spoke has not yet been had. The convention of colored people which began in Nashville last Monday promises to produce more satisfactory results. Many of the leading representatives of the race in this country are to be present, and the range of the discussion will develop the ideas of their representative men as to the future of the African people in the United States, as well as to the matter of the "On to Kansas movement." The result of the convention's work will be regarded with interests.

THE COLORED EXODUS.

The future of the colored people is a question of grave and interesting consideration. Suddenly placed in a situation of great and important responsibilities, it is no surprise that up to this time they have not proved equal to the contest, and become a great disappointment to the party that claims to have given them all their rights and freedom. The South, knowing the condition and capabilities of the race, have felt a deep sympathy for a people, raised in their midst, whose ignorance and credulity made them such easy and ready victims to Republican rapacity. No one who is informed on the subject, and not warped by sectional prejudice, can doubt that after the war, if the colored man had been left subject to the government of the State laws in which he lived, and to the humane influence of those to whom he had always looked for guidance, that in due time, he would, in a happier and more prosperous condition, have obtained all rights and privileges of which he was capable. His condition now, is one, that enlists our sincere sympathy. Every step taken by the Republican party to use him as a factor, to keep the party in power, and insure its domination over the Southern States, has resulted in distinct the states, has resulted in distinct the states, and an instance of these is aster to the race. It is a base and vile slander to charge the Southern people with cruelty to the colored people. There was a mutual and abiding friend-ship between the white and colored people of the South, that the Northern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were and southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were and southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were and southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were and southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the war ended, the Southern people were totally ignorant of when the world is about to become one language, and Congress is assured in advance that they may recken upon his approval of any recommendations tending to promote that the world is about to become one language, and Congress is assured in advance that they may recken upon his approval of any recommendations tending to promote that the world is about to become one language, and Congress is assured in advance that the world is about to become one discussions and four horse power. Makes from 20,000, to 30,000 perfet, shared dress, that the world is about to become one day, from aster to the race. It is a base and vile cited from his second inaugural address, that memorial passage, to wit, in which the expectation is encouraged that the world is about to become one

DAILY NEWS abided the honorable surrender they homes, though finding them desolate. and many in rulns, with nothing left but the charred and blackened fragments of their once happy and beautiful residences, immediately addressed hemselves to the unhappy situation, by an effort to rehabilitate and readjust themselves to the altered situation. The implements of husbandry, long rusty and neglected, were brought forth; the brambles and brushwood, which had taken the place of the blooming cotton fields, were cut down and cleared away, the fresh land was once more turned up by the plow, to the mellowing rays of the sun, and the wheels of industry set in revolution.

The Legislatures of the Southern States were assembled, laws passed to suit the changed condition of affairs, the freedom of the colored people acknowledged his right to make contracts secured, and in North Carolina and other Southern States, every right given him that the white man had except the right to vote and hold office. A law was introduced into the Legislature by Hon. W. N. H. Smith, our present Chief Justice, extending to the olore I man the right to give evidence in the courts of the State, and the laws so altered, that he at once become a necessary factor to the industries and prosperity of the State. The white people employed them at liberal wages, many renting their farms and entire stock to them, and at such fair and the year come, the colored people in many instances reaped more from the year's product than did the owners of the lands. And all this was done before reconstruction, and before the Republican party had determined to use the negro as a political power. The world was amazed at the signs of prosperity so rapidly springing up in the South, and the crops of cotton, rice and corn harvested in the years 1865 and 1866, were immense, the result of good management, on excellent soil and climate, and the kindness of a merciful God to a people bowed down and oppressed by deep afflictions. Such a state of things did not suit that portion of the Northern people in the Republican party, who were steeped in envy and hate, for a people whom they had been able, by vastly superior numbers to defeat, but whose courage was not subdued, and whose hopes of uture prosperity were not broken. The Southern people were soon called upon to assist in changing the Constitution in such manner as to forever degrade their best and most trusted and aithful leaders, with the threat, that if we did not do so, that the South should be reconstructed, and the ballot given to the negro, and he placed over us. The history that followed is familiar to all. A blacker and more damnable page of history has never been written that will be penned by the faithful historian, when he comes to write up the wants of that period. But the Southern people, though for ears robbed and plundered, suffering every indignity and wrong, were not destroyed; and that which the Republican party had placed on our necks, as a yoke, grevious to be borne, turned out to be an easy and light burthen. It arduous effort, to make the ears of nor could the Republicans at the North, with the aid of the white traitors of the South, who basely leserted their race and kindred to controll them at the elections. At the end of this long and tierce struggle, it turns out that by the help of the colored vote, the South is enabled to so increase the strength of the Democratic party, as to give to that party a majority in both oranches of Congress. We have been contemplating with nuch interest, the next step of the Republican party to use the negro so as to btain political ascendancy. It has just been made public, though the plans have long been maturing. Reflecting on the results of their first effort, this ast movement does not give us much oncern. The future of this new movement has to us this revelation. Not enough negroes will remove to materialy affect our political influence. A few plans will be incommoded for a while in regard to the question of labor. A large portion of the worthless and non-productive class of negroes will be transferred to our northwestern friends to support, and the South will thereby be more anxiously desired and sought for by European emigrants, who will bring wealth and industry to a people willing and glad to receive them. But the poor negro! is he always to be the prey of the rapacious Republican politician? We sincerely wish a prosperous future for the race and a speedy deliverance from the merciless party that controls them.

What Mr. Conkling Says of New York. Mr. Conkling has represented the State of New York in the Federal Leg-islature for nineteen years. At the opening of his third term in the Senate he rises to say, with all the weight that his past record can give, that this great State cannot keep the peace within its borders on election day, unless Federal roops aid the civil power. The public peace, the peace at common law, the peace of the people of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and in-dependent," which every indictment ead in its courts recognizes -- this peace, Senator Conkling says, cannot be kept without a standing army. He says that the voters of the State of New York, 800,000 in number, one-tenth the voters in the Union cannot have a fair election, are not able to have one without Federal aid. Mr. Conkling does not declare Federal aid desirable, he declares it necessary. If this were true we should be forced to despair of the republic; but it is not true, and as between Senator Conkling and the republic we prefer to despair of Senator Conkling.—Springfield Republican.

Moneure D. Conway in a letter to the Cincinnati Commercial, mildly claims that it needed the oriental imagination to fathom the sphinx-like nature of ex-President Grant and bring out all that is really in him. In proof of this Mr.

He stipulates that the department shall cause th ashes and other material suitable for filling sunken lots to be kept separate from the street sweepings and garbage and to deliver the ashes and like mate rial on board of cars, which will be provided for the purpose, alongside of docks near Greenpoint, on the East river; that the street sweeping and garbreasonable rates that when the end of age shall be collected together in department carts and delivered upon railroad cars at the department dumps, and that over the surface of each carload of sweepings and garbage, as soon as loaded, there shall be distributed not less than one hundred pounds of ground gypsum, a very inexpensive article, for the purpose of neutralizing the offensive exhalations. It is understood that the ashes will be utilized in filling in low ground on the Hempstead Plains. Garden City, belonging to the Steward estate. It is a curious fact, if true, that only twelve members of Congress have committed suicide since the organization of the government. There are now only tea men under sentence of death in Texas for murder and it is predicted that the pliant State Court of Appeals will rescue at least one-half of them. A Corning man lost a roll of bills containing $175. An honest fellow found the money and returned it to the

Mr. Woodbridge, of Hillsboro, Texas, went into a drug store, drew a re-volver, compelled a clerk to give him some strychnine, said that he would shoot anybody who tried to prevent his suicide, took the poison, and died with the cocked weapon in his hands.

Passanante was conveyed, like a small Napoleon, to the island of Elba, in a ship of war; on arriving at the gallerys at Porto Ferrajo, he was specially treated to cigars, wine and dainty fare, then rowed ashore in the Captain's gig with all the honors, and kept as a dis tinguished State prisoner until turned over to hard labor.

Horrible Murder in Philadelphia .-An Old Man Murders His Daughter. PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—Edward Parr, sixty years old, stabbed his daughter, Susan Irvin, aged thirty, in the left breast and temple, about eleven o'clock this morning, inflicting injuries om which she expired almost instant-Mrs. Irvin had gone to visit a friend, Mrs. Margaret Johnston, who lives in Purcell's court, in the rear of 631 Fitzwater street. While she was engaged in talking with Mrs. Johnson, Parr entered the court and sat down in the adjoining house. He remained but a few minutes, and, without saying a word, rushed into Mrs. Johnson's and followed his daughter into the second story room. A struggle took place at once, but it lasted only a minute, for Parr immediately ran down stairs with a bloody kuife in his hand. Several neighbors were called, and on reaching the room they found Mrs. Irvin lying on the floor with deep gashes in her breast and temple and life extinct. Parr was arrested a few blocks from the scene of the tragedy. The murder grew out of a family feud which dates back some time. Parr bears the reputation of a worth less and desperate character. The coroner has charge of the st-mortem examination which will be nade this afternoon, Mrs. Irvin leaves one child about eighteen months old, which was taken in charge by the coro-

mate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rov. Drs. Jeter. Broaddus. Dick'nson, (Rap.)

It is endorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and ap roval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapentical agent—Edit rs Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Mason College, Va.

Many cases of Dysp-pala within my knowledge have been cur-d by it. Cramps, Colles, Headaches and all sor's of pai s from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innum-rable.

It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is escentlent for indigestion and Flatulent Colle, sedative, sop-rific, tonic, slightly ape out,
w:thout nausea.

Rev. B. P. Woodward, P. E., Na. Conf.
About tweive years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Paling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could est anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health a d physical comfort I have had for the last eixteen years, I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

R v Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.

I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsis Colle, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hart. I have recommended it to other suffere s with happlest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For protration from Dyspepsia or Liver Di_ease it is invaluable.

J D. Egglestoo, M D., Va.

It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used that any single a ficie in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion, I use it and recommend it.

Shockoe Machine Works,

RICHMOND, - - - - VA.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Portable and Stationary Engines and Boilers, Saw Mills, Corn and Wheat Mills, Shaftings, Hangers and Pulleys, Turbine Water Wheels, Tobacco Facto ry Machinery, Wrought Iron Work, Brass and Iron Casting, Machinery of every description. Gining and Threshing Engines a specialty. Talbott's Pat-ent Spark Arrester, the invention of the age. It is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superceding all others in use. The great efficiency in this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insur-ance companies. Its prominent fea-tures are: it does not destroy the draft; t does not interfere with cleaning the teethes; it will not choke up and requires no cleaning; it requires no di-rect dampers to be opened when raising steam, (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape,); it requires no water to ex-tinguish sparks, which by condensa-tion, destroys the draft, besides, when water is used, if neglected, the effi-ciency is destroyed by evaporation of the water and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition; it is simple and durable, and can be relied upon; it can be attached to any boiler. No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns when the Talbott Engines and
